Where are they now?

In 2001 Bratislava Dance Theatre performed a work by Peter Mika and Olga Cobos at The Place as part of Aerowaves. Cobos was already a familiar name to London audiences because of her work with S.O.A.P. Dance Company who visited regularly. She had been working with Mika since 1999 and they soon founded their own company. In 2010 the CobosMika Company are celebrating their 10th anniversary. Their motto is "life is movement and movement expresses the soul". They have produced numerous full length works and created pieces for large repertory companies across Europe as well as being celebrated teachers. Their latest project is a professional postgraduate training course, lasting a year, working with newly trained dancers as a company. Their goals are technical perfection, creativity, touring, production and management. For more information contact info@cobosmika.com
